Elder Law

Elder Law is a multi-disciplinary approach to preparing and planning for your senior years. It's how we ensure that you will always have control, stability and dignity.

Moving Out, Moving In

When the time comes to downsize - for example, from a house to a retirement community - we can help with purchases and sales, giving support that's tailored to a senior's need for financial security.

Employment & Retirement Planning

Post-retirement, will you continue as a consultant, start a small business or work part-time - and how will that impact your Social Security status? We'll help you decide which options are best for you.

Estate Preparation

From revising wills and updating estate plans to the ongoing management of your assets, we not only have the legal and financial experience to help you create a plan now - we also know how to coordinate your plans so they will work later when they're actually needed. Come to us if you have a plan that isn't working - we'll help fix it!

Estate Fulfillment

After your death, you live on through your estate. And no matter how complex, we make sure that your wishes are fulfilled just as you had planned.

Living Wills

You are unique - and your planning documents should be too. Something as important as a living will or medical directive should not be left to a standard form. You and your family will move on with confidence, knowing you have addressed any obstacles.

Guardianship

In a process that often strips people of their dignity, our role is to be always there, supporting you and your loved ones. And we have the legal knowledge and courtroom experience to assist you, no matter how difficult your situation.

“Elder Law is how we ensure that you will always have control, stability and dignity.”

Assisted Living/Contracts

We can review and explain convoluted nursing home contracts, taking an unbiased and independent view. We can also advise on liability issues.

Medicaid

We know how the system works and can help you get through this often difficult process. We'll offer assistance every step of the way - while making sure that your dignity remains intact.

Long Term Care

Long term care insurance offers choice and independence. By carefully shifting and allocating existing financial resources we can create solutions that avoid potential problems before they occur and ensure that your assets are protected for your loved ones.
